Digital photography

My intention for this photo was to tell a story of my family's history through one picture. I wanted to capture as much of my family as possible, unfortunately many of members of my family are no longer with us, so I dug through old photo albums and eventually found my the oldest pictures dating back to the 1930's I created this board of photos and set them up in chronological order, I also set added some old and very important documents with very nice and fun stories.
