My work - inspired by the artists Juan Carlos Alom and Lina Hashim - incorporates an encircling shape around the model with a piece of film, symbolizing her role in the art community. The image also has an overall darkened image with lower contrast, which is meant to make the viewer look closer. This piece was created by printing a simple portrait and wildlife images onto clear sheets and layering them, along with one of my strands of film, in the darkroom to create a photogram.
