Junctionz

Photography

I've made this piece, Junctionz, for the people who make my life feel like a movie. Through every film strip is a new adventure. Whether it be good or bad, through it all they're always by my side. This is what I consider my community. My friends who take care of me, my friends who listen, my friends who love me more than I could possibly imagine. My work was inspired by Lina Hashim's The Unlawful Meetings and this led to my use of film running through my photographs. Her photos that are lined up next to one another act as a movie, going scene by scene. This inspired my photos of my friends, shot on an old camera to act as a play by play of my time with them. I was also inspired by Robert Rauschenberg's Soviet / American Array VII and this led me to make my digital photographs into transfers and have the film overlay the photos just like Rauschenberg's pictures overlaid each other.
